Stripes kickback... Small bits of news, gossip and info for the terraces.

The build up to our Friday night match last week was something a bit special. A whole week of waiting for the first competitive derby match against Krukan/Los Scudetto. A few beers in our home pub before the game got the vocal chords well oiled. It was a nice gesture for the opposing team to invite their own fans to our pub and that they did, mingling happily with us before the game and not a bad word or tense feeling anywhere in sight, exactly the way it should be in football. Okay we are grassroots football, but although we are small we do it right and without prejudice, fair play is our motto.

The banter is first class on the terraces and win, lose or draw, both teams are applauded off the field of play, and every week new friends are made. Why can't the supporters of teams in divisions higher up follow suit?

I received a message on my facebook page about a photograph I published. It showed the club's official banner being flanked by some St George crosses, a Union Jack and an Irish Tricolor. The person who sent the message could not believe that an Irish and English flag would stand side by side at a football match. I explained we have no prejudices be it colour or religion or nationality, it doesn't matter to us, if you have a passion for the best game on the planet then that is all the criteria it takes to be made welcome by us.

The home team on Friday had a much smaller support than Stripes and could not be heard at any point in the game. The crowd for the evening were treated to a fine football match and few laughs along the way. One thing that is particularly good to see is the new supporters we are making and the fact that some of these bring their families along, knowing they will see a good, honest, trouble free football game.

We go into this weekend's game following 2 league victories and knowing that a win today puts us right back in the hunt for the DIV4 title. We welcome Ängby IF to The Island today for what promises to be a very tough match following their great start to the season.

Following our derby victory last Friday night the squad have been putting in the work on the training pitch and are in good spirits going into today's match. LFC's manager Chris Latham knows that his team will need to play at their best to get a result but feels that following our recent form the lads can go out and get the victory. Chris says "Ängby will be well organised and have a good young squad, however we are starting to get back to full strength and although we are still missing some players the squad has enough quality to earn the victory vs the league leaders. Were hoping to follow on from last weeks performance with another strong backing from our great supporters. Come on the stripes!"

Player profile: EDWIN BERGQUIST Position: Goalkeeper

◆ Tell us who your favourite goalkeeper is Edwin

It has to be Thomas Ravelli, he is really the first ever successful Swedish keeper and also good at penalties.

◆ Who is your favourite club apart from Långholmen ?

Manchester Utd are my favourite, easily the world's best team and they have shown this again this season.

◆ How do you like to spend a typical Saturday night out?

I would meet my friends at my place, take a drink and relax. And then later on go to some nightclub with good music and lots of girls.

◆ Can you remember your most important save ?

My most important save must have been the penalty save against Reymersholm, who where my old club. And from that we turned the game in our favour.

◆ Which player would you most like to play with ?

I would say Cristiano Ronaldo because from my opinion he's the best player in the world. But would rather play against him.

◆ If you had lunch with Cameron Diaz where would you take her ?

She is a bit old but still a very beautiful woman so I would take her on a walk to Gamla stan. Then take her to a romantic restaurant called "Agaton" where I will give her everything she wants.

◆ You're quite a handsome guy, how do you keep your skin so shiny ?

I was born handsome so everyday carrot juice, fresh air and some good sleep!
